

Why Hintera?

For many years, only large enterprises could afford to put an Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) solution in place to manage their business processes which really widened the competitive gap between large enterprises and Small and Medium Size Enterprises (SMEs). The cost of ERP purchase, infrastructure needed plus set up, coupled with its complexity in terms of usage could not be accommodated by SMEs.

Business Is Mobile

We live in a world where people are constantly on the move but want to stay in touch with their clients, industry trends and be able to monitor their businesses from anytime, anywhere.

The way data is managed and interpreted is key to the survival of any business in a competitive environment, hence it is crucial for any growing business to have an Enterprise Resource Planning tool in place to help organize data, synchronize processes and make informed decisions based on real-time data.

Hintera has been developed to deliver cloud-based ERP solution for the SME market, businesses and organizations to gain competitive advantage and respond quickly to dynamic market situations, integrate business functions and processes, reduce planning and workflow timelines and enable better utilization of resources so that businesses in any industry can truly, thrive.

Hintera is a subsidiary of Softclo Web Services Ltd, a software and cloud company focused on helping businesses become more agile in a digital economy.

Case studies

Case 1

AMLSN (Association of Medical Laboratory Scientists in Nigeria), Lagos Branch is a professional association for registered Medical Laboratory Scientists with a mission to vanguard and advocate the advancement of global best practices of Medical Laboratory Science profession and national health services.

The Challenge

As the association grew in numbers and chapters, it required an organized registration process to maintain the integrity of its democratic process when electing officers of the Association. It also needed to keep track of its membership dues.

Our Solution

Using our Non-Profit module in Hintera, we generated a code which was copied on ID cards for members which easily identified members who had voted and also helped to capture each member details correctly thereby easing the process of data collection, allowing for better management and control.

Results

The AMLSN, Lagos Branch has 234 members registered on the platform and the numbers continue to grow, making it easier for the association to access its members and ensure best practices are carried out at all times.

Case 2

ABOSS Medical Laboratory carries out clinical pathological tests to aid diagnosis, treatment and management of diseases for better patient care.

The Challenge

The CEO needed a way to manage sales partners and commissions accurately, patient appointment and be able to identify profitable services in order to make better investments. Partner and patient management are critical to decision making as Abboss, had suffered a few losses in recent times due to this.

Our Solution

Using the CRM, Selling and Accounts module, we provided a holistic clinic management system that allowed Abboss track and manage patient appointments, referrals to partner hospitals and determine appropriate commissions.

Results

Data management improved drastically. For Abboss founder and its overall management, instant online access to activities and data regarding business operations was a huge relief and allowed the business to forecast better and increase revenue.
